REGISTERS OF THE PARISH OF ST. MARY. STOCKPORT.

THE CHURCH.

THE Parish Church of Stockport, dedicated to St. Mary the Virgin, must have had a very ancient foundation, for Stockport having been an important stronghold in the Roman and Saxon periods, it is only reasonable to infer that there was a church and consecrated burying ground in connection with the Castle. There is no mention of it in the Domesday Book, but the devastation of the district by the Normans soon after the Conquest is sufficient to account for the omission. Upon this subject we learn from Ormerod's "History of Cheshire" that there can be little doubt that a church had existed here which was the head of a most extensive parish before the Conquest.

Of the earlier churches, says Dr Heginbotham in his "Stockport, Ancient and Modern," there are no records or remains, but the structure which preceded the present, and of which the existing chancel formed a part, was erected early in the fourteenth century. The church, consisting of tower, nave, and chancel, was built of red sandstone, the prevailing geological formation of the district, and was a very venerable structure, standing upon the site occupied by the present church. In 1810, the insecure state of the tower of the old church and the fall of part of the embattlements on the south side of the nave led to an application to Parliament for "An Act for repairing or rebuilding the Parish Church of Stockport, in the County Palatine of Chester, and for rebuilding the Tower thereof; and for making a cemetery or churchyard for the use of the Parish." This Act was passed in 1810, and steps were soon after taken for carrying the Act into effect.

When the tower and nave had been demolished and removed, arrangements were made for laying the foundation stone of the new structure, and July 5, 1813, was selected for that purpose. The stone was laid at the south-east corner of the town by Wilbraham Egerton, Esq., M.P., grandfather of the present Lord Egerton of Tatton. The rebuilding of the church occupied nearly four years, and the first sermon was preached therein April 6, 1817, by the Rev. Edward Howell, curate. The church, however, was not consecrated until July 4, 1817, on which occasion the sermon was preached by the Rev. Charles Prescott, B.D., the rector. The total cost of rebuilding the church was £42,888 3s 1½d.

On October 29, 1882, the church was again reopened after having been renovated and decorated under the able guidance of Mr J. S. Crowther, of Alderley, the architect who has in hand the remodeling of Manchester Cathedral. Under his direction the whole of the old box-pews were removed and the present open sittings substituted. The gallery on each side was lowered about eight inches, whilst that at the west end occupied by the organ and choir was entirely removed. The gable was pierced, and in it has since been inserted the present beautiful stained-glass window by Mr R. B. Lingard-Monk, as a memorial to his late wife. The organ was placed in the Lyme and Brinnington Chapel after being thoroughly cleaned and overhauled. These alterations cost about £4000.

THE STAINED GLASS.

The memorial windows are seven in number, four in the chancel, two in the nave, and one in the gable of the tower. The east window of the chancel is the most conspicuous, and is a fine specimen of the decorative art. It consists of six great lights, above which are trefoils and quatrefoils, surrounded by bold and flowing tracery. It represents the leading events in the life of our Saviour. The others are memorial windows, and are all of chaste design.

THE RECTORS.

The following is a list of the rectors of St. Mary's, together with the year of their institution :—

1150 Mattheus, clericus	1577 Rich. Gerard, B.D.
1200 Robert, clericus	1614 Rich. Kenyon, M.A.
1250 Alar	1615 Ed. Doughtie, M.A.
1280 William de Newton	1616 Thos. Morton, D.D.
1300 Robert de Basinges	1619 Rich. Murray, D.D.
1306 Richard de Vernon	1637 Edmund Shalcross
1334 Peter de Wetenhall	1645 Thomas Case, M.A.
1348 Wm. de Northwell	1646 Thomas Johnson
1363 Jordan de Holme	1656 Thomas Paget
1364 John de Massey	1630 Henry Warren
1376 James de Baggeley	1674 Leonard Clayton
1404 Hugh de Toft	1678 Wm. Shippen, D.D.
1407 John Fyton	1694 Wm. Nicholls, M.A.
1432 William Tabley	1717 Harry Style, B.A.
1497 John Warren	1742 Samuel Stead, M.A.
1473 Henry Warren	1769 John Watson, M.A.
1493 John Gerard	1783 Chas. Prescott, B.D.
1517 Nicholas Warren	1820 C. K. Prescott, M.A.
1517 John Smyth, D.D.	1875 W. Symonds, M.A.
1538 Arthur Lowe

At the time when the Registers commenced the rector was the Rev. Richard Gerard, B.D. M.A. He was the first rector appointed after the formation of the See of Chester in 1541 on the presentation of his uncle, Gilbert Gerard, and of William Gerard, of Gray's Inn, London, the first-named being attorney-general to Queen Elizabeth from 1559 to 1585, and the latter lord chancellor for Ireland. He was also recorder of Chester from 1556 to 1575, and represented that city in Parliament until his death, which took place May 1, 1531.

Richard Gerard, the rector, was the second son of William Gerard, of Harrow-on-the-Hill, Middlesex, a representative of the Gerards of Bryn in Lancashire. He was one of the chaplains of Queen Elizabeth, and in 1580 was instituted prebendary of Norwell Overhall, in the Collegiate Church of Southwell. He married, January 19, 1584-5—nine months after the commencement of the Registers—Ursula, daughter of Ralph Arderne of Harden, Bredbury, by whom he had ten children. His own burial is thus recorded in the Registers—

RICHARD GERARD, BACHELOR OF DIVINITY AND PARSON OF THE CHURCH OF STOCKPORT WAS BURIED THE 17TH OF MAYE 1614.

The Registers of the Ancient Parish of St. Mary, Stockport, contain much that is quaint, curious, and interesting to the antiquarian, genealogist, and general reader.

THE REGISTERS.

These Registers date from 1534, being some years later than those of the neighbouring parishes of Cheadle, Northenden, and Wilmslow. They are, however, exceedingly voluminous, consisting of no fewer than seventy-six volumes. These are well written, and in an excellent state of preservation. Up to the commencement of 1830 the Registers contained the records of 64,183 baptisms, 32,537 marriages, and 63,924 burials. The first volume is a thick parchment folio, dating from 1534 to 1622. There is no division between baptisms, marriages, or burials; each is entered as it took place. For the sake of clearness, however, these have been separately placed under each month, and the date of the event brought to the front in chronological order.

In every other respect the orthography has been adhered to as closely as possible, whereby the reader is enabled to note the various forms of spelling local names during the earlier years of registration.

The first page of this volume of the Registers is prefaced with the following entry ;—

A true and perfect Register of all those that have bene christned married and buried in the parish church of Stockport which beginneth the twentie and fift day of March 1534 and in the twentie sixte yeare of the reigne of our Sovereigne Ladye Elizabeth.

- 19.—RIC GERARD PARSON OF STOCKPORT AND URSULA DAUGHTER UNTO RAFFE ARDERNE OF HAWARDEN ESQUIER WERE MARRIED THE 19TH, 1584.

In this as in the entry of the burial of John Arderne of Harden the particulars are written in a much plainer hand, the name of the bride's home Hawarden in this case meaning Harden, near Stockport. The reader should also bear in mind that in citing dates of events occurring between January 1 and March 25 in any year between 1582 and 1752 it is customary to insert both the civil and historical year. Previous to the last-named year it was usual for two dates to be used, one for the civil and the other for the historical; the former commenced March 25, and the latter January, thus to be strictly accurate the marriage of Parson Gerard should have been entered as taking place

"the 19th [of January] 1584-5," the last figure indicating the historical year according to our computation.

27.—Thomas Lomes of Stockport.

This last entry is written over an erasure. What the previous name was there is not the slightest trace. What makes me think some other name than that of Lomes occupied this space in the first instance, is that the erasing knife has not been used to make a correction of a word or a date, but the whole width of the page, and sufficient in depth for two entries, has the parchment been rudely scraped. Still the entry to be found there is written by the same hand as the rest at this time.

On referring to Earwaker's East Cheshire, the following particulars relating to this member of the Davenport family are found: William Davenport was the only son of Sir William Davenport, Knight, and Margaret, daughter of George Booth, of Dunham, in whose Inquisition post mortem, held 1576, the son was entered as being 34 years of age; this would bring his age at the time of death, September 6, 1585, to be 43 years. The William Davenport whose death is above recorded, married Margaret, daughter of Richard Ashton, of Middleton, and by her was father of six sons and one daughter. His eldest son, William, who succeeded to the estates, and was subsequently knighted, served as High Sheriff of Cheshire in 1604; another son, Humphrey, was also knighted, and eventually became Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer. The Margaret Davenport who was buried on September 4, 1585, as shewn above, was granddaughter of the William Davenport buried this day, being the second child of his son William, then aged 23 years. She would be about six months old.

 22.—Willm Bowker of Bramhall had a chylde baptized.

This double entry evidently has reference to the same child, only that in the Register there are three other entries between them. As will be seen below, it is followed by a marriage on the same date, the same marriage being entered again under the 25th. To make it plainer I give the entries in the order set down in the Register as follows:

Willm Bowker of Bramhall had a chylde baptized the 22nd.

John Daniell and Catherne Chadweek were maryed the 22nd.

John Casson of Stockp buried the 22nd.

The wyfe of Ambrose Robynson of Stock also buried the 22nd.

Willm Bowker of Bramhall had a chylde baptized the 22nd.

Robte Marshall and Jane Leadebeater were maryed the 22nd.

John Warren of Offerton was buried the 22nd.

John Danyell and Katherne Chadweek were maryed the 22nd.

The entries that are in duplicate I give in italics. It will also be observed that two of the names in the marriage entry are spelled different to those in the first entry, and that there is a difference of three days in the date.

- 4.—HENRY BRADSHAW AND KATHERNE WYNNINGTON WERE MARRIED THE 4TH.

The Henry Bradshaw whose marriage is here recorded was the eldest son and heir of Henry Bradshaw, who purchased Marple Hall and lands in Marple and Wybberslegh from Sir Edward Stanley, K.B. He in turn, by his marriage with Katherine Wynnington, became the father of Henry Bradshaw, a colonel in the Parliamentary Army, and of John Bradshaw, the famous judge. Henry Bradshaw's wife Katherine was the last of the Wynningtons of Offerton, being the youngest daughter and co-heiress with her sister Anne (afterwards married to Lawrence Wright, of Mottram-St.-Andrew) of Ralph Wynnington, of Offerton. She died January 24, 1603, after ten years of married life. Her children were—

- 1.—WILLIAM, baptised January 2, 1596-7; buried November 19, 1597, at Stockport.
- 2.—HENRY, baptised at Stockport January 23, 1600; buried there March 15, 1661, having been twice married.
- 3.—JOHN, baptised at Stockport December 10, 1602; buried November 22, 1659, in Westminster Abbey.
- 4.—FRANCIS, baptised at Stockport January 13, 1603, and was living in 1639.
- 5.—DOROTHY, baptised at Stockport August 11, 1598, and married George Newton, of Newton-in-Longdendale, August 30, 1618.
- 6.—ANNE, baptised at Stockport November 9, 1599, and married John Fallows, of Fallows Hall, Alderley.

Henry Bradshaw, the father of these children, continued to live at Wybberslegh Hall until the death of his father at Marple Hall, which event took place in January, 1619-20. Respecting his three surviving sons given above they are best remembered by the following verse afterwards made in the judge's name :—

My brother Henry must heir the land;
My brother Frank must be at his command;
Whilst I, poor Jack, shall do that
Which all the world will wonder at.

Henry Bradshaw died in 1654, and was buried at Stockport August 3 in that year, having, along with his sons Henry and John, taken a prominent part in the national commotion which only closed with the restoration of Charles II.

Anne Winnington was the eldest daughter of Ralph Winnington, of Offerton. Her only sister Catherine had at this time been married two years, her husband being Henry Bradshaw, of Marple. Anne died in 1617, having given birth to eleven children, and was buried at Stockport. Her husband Lawrence lived until 1649, in which year it is asserted that he married again.

11.—JOHN HYDE DEANE OF MOTTRAM AND ANNE HYDE WERE MARRIED THE 11TH.

Turning to Earwaker's East Cheshire (ii. 127) we find that John Hyde was collated to the living of Mottram-in-Longdendale June 4, 1575, by Dr Downham, Bishop of Chester, and that he held the living for over sixty years. He was twice married, first at Mottram on February 26, 1575-6, to Alice Reddich, of Mottram. She died, and was buried at Mottram, March 21, 1593-4, and on May 22, 1597 (so says Mr Earwaker) he married for his second wife Anne Hyde. It will be observed that the Stockport Registers record the event as taking place on May 11, 1597. Hyde was rural dean of Macclesfield, and as such each page of the Mottram Register transcripts are endorsed by him as "Dean of Macclesfield." The vicar died in 1637, and was buried in Mottram as is testified by the following entry in the Registers:

1636-7. 17 Martii. John Hyde, Vicar of Mottram, buried.

Between the entries for June and July, 1597, we have the following written in large capitals, and cut off from other matter by being double ruled top and bottom.

THESE NAMES HEEREAFTER FOLLOWING WERE REGISTERED BY THOMAS SIMKIN SINCE HIS FIRST COMING TO STOCKPORTE, VIZ.: 1304199

At the commencement of the transcription of these Registers it was stated that the first portion of the first volume was but a copy of some previous Register. This opinion has been asserted to be erroneous. The above entry, if further proof were needed, is sufficient in itself to set the matter at rest. The first volume begins in March, 1584, and ends in 1628, and is written by one man in what is termed Elizabethan court hand, and is most uniform throughout. Now Simkin did not succeed to the duties of parish clerk until this date—July, 1597—therefore the entries made by him in the parchment book from March, 1584, to June, 1597, as directed by law, had to be transcribed from some previous Register, not in accordance with the regulations issued by Lord Cromwell in 1538. Many of the pages of this earlier portion of the first volume bear out this assumption, the entries during that period containing blanks for undecipherable names, duplicate entries of the same event, transpositions, interlineations, etc., such as might be expected when copying from loose sheets of paper. As will be found, during the forty-five years that Simkin was clerk, the entries are more complete and there are fewer discrepancies. Simkin died in 1642, the following entry being made in the Registers that year:

1642. Bur. June. Thomas Symkin, the good Clarke of Stockport, who served the place there 45 years, was buried the 9th.

- 30.—WILLIAM THE SONNE OF WILLIAM DAUENPORT OF BRAMHALL ESQUIER AND FRAUNCIS THE DAUGHTER OF THOMAS WILBRAM OF WOODHEY ESQUIER WERE MARRIED AT BRAMHALL THE 30TH.

The William Davenport whose marriage is here given was the eldest son of Sir William Davenport, Knt., of Bramhall, by Dorothy, daughter of John Warren, Esquire, of Poynton, and was nephew of Sir Humphrey Davenport, Knt., Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer. His baptism is the first entry in the Stockport Parish Register, on March 25, 1584, according to which he would be fifteen years of age at the time of his marriage. We are not told how soon he commenced house-keeping, but he is described as living at Mile End Hall, near Stockport, from 1613 to 1617, his father being at this time the occupant of Bramhall Hall. William Davenport was twice married, his first wife being the above-named Frances, daughter of Thomas Wilbraham, Esquire, of Woodhey. She was about three years younger than her husband, being in her twelfth year at the time of her marriage. She became the mother of four sons and four daughters, the eldest of whom was baptised at Stockport February 3, 1610-11. For his second wife William Davenport married at Stockport, September 27, 1627, Margaret, daughter of Thomas Legh, Esquire, of Adlington, and widow of Henry Arderne Esquire, of Harden. On the same day was celebrated the marriage of William Davenport's eldest son William (baptised February 3, 1610-11) to Frances, youngest daughter of the above Margaret and Henry Arderne. (Earwaker i., 437.)

 23.—THOMAS THE SONNE OF LAURENCE WRIGHT OF OFFERTON WAS BAPTISED THE 23TH.
 23.—HENRY THE SONNE OF HENRY BRADSHAW OF MARPLE ALSO BAPTISED THE 23TH.

The children Thomas Wright and Henry Bradshaw whose baptisms are recorded above were cousins. Dr. Ormerod in his History of Cheshire (iii. 696) makes no mention of the above Thomas Wright in the pedigree of that family, but records the name of another son baptised at Stockport July 6, 1602, also named Thomas. Of the subsequent career of the second Thomas Wright little is known save that he was living in 1649. The Thomas Wright whose baptism is given above died and was buried at Stockport April 24, following, having just lived three months.

Of Henry Bradshaw much more is known. He was second son of Henry Bradshaw of Wiber-legh, and subsequently of Marple Hall, his mother being Catherine daughter of Ralph Winnington, of Offerton, her only sister being the mother of the above-mentioned Thomas Wright. Henry Bradshaw whose baptism is here given was an elder brother of John Bradshaw, known as the Regicide, and he played an equally prominent part in the affairs of the nation. The name of Henry Bradshaw appears as the first signature to the Cheshire petition addressed to Parliament July 6, 1648, praying for the establishment of the Presbyterian religion. He acted as a magistrat under the Parliamentary government and had a commission in their army, being a captain and subsequently major in Colonel Duckenfield's regiment, holding the latter office under the appointment of Lord Fairfax. He had also a lieutenant colonel's commission in Colonel Ashton's regiment of foot. At a later period he was nominated to the command of the militia of the Macclesfield Hundred, and was present with it at the battle of Worcester, where he was wounded. In 1652 he was one of the court-martial which sat on the trial of James the seventh Earl of Derby and other loyalists at Chester. Henry Bradshaw was twice married, first, to Mary, daughter of Bernard Wells, of Stoke, gent. (with whom her husband's father had agreed to settle Wibberslegh Hall, the marriage settlement to this effect dated 30 September, 6 Car I., being still at Marple Hall); second, to Anne, daughter of George Bowdon, of Bowdon Co. Derby. (See also under date February 4, 1593-4.)

- 5.—Elizabeth daughter of Richard Smith of Stockport.

- 10.—JOHN THE SONNE OF HENRYE BRADSHAW OF MARPLE WAS BAPTIZED THE 10TH. traitor.

Thus we have the entry in the Stockport Parish Registers of the baptism of John Bradshaw President of Cromwell's High Court of Justice, before whom Charles I. was tried, and by whom his death sentence was pronounced. In order, that readers of CHESHIRE NOTES and QUERIES may have an idea how the original entry appears in the old parchment volume, we have been enabled by the kindness of Mr H. Heginbotham J.P., of Offerton, to insert a facsimile:

The engraving is the work of Mr Robert Langton F.R.H.S., of Manchester, and was executed for Dr Heginbotham's Stockport: Ancient and Modern now approaching completion, and to Dr Heginbotham our readers are indebted for an opportunity of inspecting a most faithful copy of this now historic record.

The story of Judge Bradshaw's life has often been told, and the more it is investigated the better does it become. Space, however, will only admit of giving but a brief outline at this place. Reference has already been made to the marriage of his parents (see February 4, 1593-4), to the baptism of his two elder brothers, William and Henry (see January 2, 1596-7 and January 23, 1601), and to the burial of his brother William (see November 19, 1597, of these Registers). There was also a sister older than John, whose baptism is given under November 9, 1599. The place of John Bradshaw's birth is uncertain, that event by some being located at Marple Hall, and by others at Wybberslegh Hall, in the same neighbourhood. This uncertainty can be best explained by taking a brief glance at the position of the family at this period. At the time of John Bradshaw's birth, there were no fewer than three Henry Bradshaws residing in the neighbourhood of Marple, these being respectively brother, father, and grandfather of the embryo judge. Henry Bradshaw, senior, was living at Marple Hall, which estate, together with that of Wybberslegh, he had acquired by purchase from Sir Edward Stanley. On the marriage of his eldest son and heir, Henry Bradshaw, junior, to Katherine Winington (father and mother of Henry Bradshaw, ter, and of John), it was necessary to provide them with a separate establishment. Thus it was that Wybberslegh Hall was set apart for the young people, and here it may safely be inferred they continued to reside until the death of the first Henry Bradshaw, which event took place in January, 1619-20, at a time when John Bradshaw would be seventeen years' old, and when, in all probability, he would be a founder at the Stockport Grammar School, under the then head master, Luke Mason, together with his brothers, Henry and Francis.

Of the boyhood of John Bradshaw nothing is known; but the following verse, said to have been scratched by him on a window-pane at Marple Hall, is an indication of the ambition that filled his youthful breast, and at the same time displays a faculty for prevision that was remarkable. The verse referred to tells us that—

My brother Henry must heir the land;
My brother Frank must be at his command;
Whilst I, poor Jack, shall do that
Which all the world will wonder at.

On leaving Stockport Grammar School he proceeded to one at Bunbury, Cheshire, when he would doubtless make the acquaintance of Edward Burghall, parson and schoolmaster there and whose diary of the civil war is one of the most interesting records we have of that period. From Bunbury John Bradshaw went to Middleton, in Lancashire, thence to Gray's Inn, to study law. He was called to the bar of his Inn April 23, 1627, and to the bench of that society June 23, 1645, when he was appointed Judge of the Sheriff's Court, London. It is thought he acted for some years as a provincial counsel, as he lived for a time at Congleton, and served the office of Mayor there in 1637, and was afterwards high steward.

He was appointed chief justice of Chester in March, 1647, and at the great move in legal offices shortly before the trial of Charles I. the House of Commons ordered that there should be a new call of serjeants, such order stating "that Mr Bradshaw, of Gray's Inn, be a member [October 12, 1648]." Shortly afterwards he was promoted to the rank of Commissioner in the New High Court of Justice, and on January 10, 1649, he was further dignified with the title of Lord President of that court. The trial of King Charles began January 20, 1649, and Clarendon (vol. vi., 218) says he administered the office "with all the pride, impudence, and superciliousness imaginable." It must be remembered, however, that Clarendon was the King's most trusted friend and counsellor, and, consequently, regarded this scene and its actors in a different light. As chief judge at this trial, Bradshaw was the first to sign the warrant for the execution of the King after he had passed sentence. This warrant is to be seen in the British Museum. In the subsequent trials of the Duke of Hamilton, the Earl of Holland, and others, Bradshaw continued to act as Lord President, and the Dean's house at Westminster was given him as a residence with a donation of £5000. As a further recompense for his services at the various trials an ordinance was passed settling upon him £2000 a year, and his appointment as Chief Justice of Chester was renewed. In addition, he was made Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and a member of the Council of State.

A friend to pure democracy, he strenuously opposed the efforts of Cromwell to engross all the powers of State into his own hands, and eagerly thwarted his measures. When Cromwell reconstructed Parliament upon a basis of manhood suffrage, in 1654, Cheshire, which hitherto had but two representatives, was represented by four, and one of these was Judge Bradshaw. The Protector, feeling the force of Bradshaw's opposition, endeavoured to get rid of him by creating him a peer, but, says Clarendon, he refused to be won over by such lures, and continued in a state of sulky opposition during the remainder of Oliver's protectorate. Foss, however, states that Cromwell purposely omitted his name on account of the distaste that existed between them, and that it was in consequence of Cromwell's action in the matter that Bradshaw was defeated when he contested the election in Cheshire in 1656. On the death of the Protector Cromwell, however, Bradshaw was returned as one of the members for Chester to Richard Cromwell's Parliament, in 1659.

When Richard Cromwell had been deposed and the Commonwealth again proclaimed, Bradshaw accepted office as one of the Commissioners of the Great Seal, swearing "to be true to this Commonwealth, without a single person, kingship, or House of Lords," but in a few weeks he had the mortification of seeing the supreme power in the hands of the military, which was only a preliminary to the restoration of Charles II.

Judge Bradshaw only survived this scene a few weeks, for he died at the Deanery, Westminster, October 31, 1659, having suffered considerably in health consequent upon the great mental strain he had undergone. He was interred with great pomp in Westminster Abbey, his funeral sermon being preached by John Rowe. On the restoration of Charles II. his body and the bodies of Cromwell and Ireton, both of which had been deposited in the same place, were (January 30^o 1660-1) disinterred, and, with every mark of obloquy, were dragged on sledges to Tyburn, at which notorious spot they were gibbeted, then beheaded, their trunks being thrown in a hole at the foot of the gallows, and their heads exposed on poles on the top of Westminster Abbey.

At a meeting of the members of the Lancashire and Cheshire Antiquarian Society, held at Marple Hall in the summer of 1886, Mr J. Eglington Bailey, F.S.A., of Stretford, exhibited a copy of Milton's Defensio secunda pro Populo Anglicano, published in 1654, containing at page 106 the noticeable reference in grave and emphatic language to Johannes Bradscianus, nobili familia ut satis notum est ortus—"a name consecrated by Liberty to immortal renown in every country where her power is acknowledged." In this eloquent tribute to the career of his friend (said Mr Bailey) Milton exhibits much familiarity with his private as well as his public character. "In domestic life to his utmost power he (Bradshaw) is hospitable and splendid; amidst all the vicissitudes of fortune a friend most faithful and firm; instant and eager to acknowledge merit wherever it is discovered, as well as most munificent to reward it. The pious, the learned, the eminent in every walk of genius, the soldier, and the hero, are either relieved by his wealth if in distress, or, if otherwise, are cherished by his kind attentions and regard."

Bradshaw's character has been deeply coloured by his connection with the trial of King Charles, and such books as the History of the King Killers and the "poor, little, brown lying Flagellum" present him in the blackest light. Yet his Republicanism was as staunch as that of Milton, and was evidenced by his protest to Cromwell, April 30, 1653, when that Dictator dissolved the Long Parliament. "No power under heaven," said Bradshaw, "could dissolve them but themselves; therefore take you notice of that!" It was unfortunate (continued Mr Bailey) that but very few personal papers or memoirs were left to indicate Bradshaw's true character and to guide the critic to an accurate delineation of it. But there is an exception in the case of his will, dated March 22, 1653 4, which indirectly tells us much of his springs of action. The exordium was very striking, and seemed to caution us against too readily believing that this portion of the ancient wills was copied from forms or models in books of precedents. The gravest moments of a man's life, when he is called upon to review his relations to his Maker, his family, and friends, is not a moment when he stands in need of borrowed language; for his feelings prompt the sentiments of his heart. The opening sentences in these old testaments often express the spirit and philosophy of a man's life.

In the name of God. Amen. I, John Bradshaw, Sergeant-at-law, and Chief Justice of Chester, being in good health and perfect memory, praised be God, yet sensible of the uncertaintye of this fragile life, find itt fitt and convenient, having through grace this opportunitie lent mee to make and declare my last will and testament. First, I bequeath my soule to Almighty God trusting—through faith in the blood of Son my Saviour—to be made partaker of everlasting life, and that my sinnes being graciousl^y pardoned I shall appeare clothed in the righteousness of Christ, my elder brother, to whom, with the Father and the Blessed Spiritt be glory and prayse for ever. My body I commend to the earth to be interred in decent and christian buriall at the discretion of my executor if I dye neare her, otherwise of such servants as shal be about mee, without observing the vanitie of any funeral pompe.

The will is chiefly concerned with the administration of the large property which the testator had acquired in the counties of Middlesex and Kent from the confiscated estates of the Royalists. The spirit of the document shows that he was a just and benevolent man. He was bountiful to the foundation of the school at Middleton as well as to that at Bunbury. His interest in Marple was also manifested, evidencing a close intimacy with Marple Hall. He devoted the huge sum of £700 to maintain a free school at Marple. None of these bequests, however, were carried out, owing to his property at the Restoration reverting to its former possessors. The concluding passage of the will is very noticeable, being an earnest and touching encouragement to his wife (Mary, daughter of one of the Marburys of Marbury Hall, Cheshire, see under date of October 21, 1600), whom he very tenderly loved. The Judge had some presentiment when he penned the will that his departure would precede hers; and he introduces that grand and familiar description of the Almighty in Isaiah as the Guardian from generation to generation of the families of the just:—

I do lastly make my said and well-beloved and dear wife my sole executor of this my last will and testament, desiring her to put her trust in Him who is the Rock of Ages, and who will be a husband that cannot be taken away.

Judge Bradshaw's heir was his nephew Henry, son of Colonel Henry Bradshaw (1601-1662), who lived from 1635 to 1698, and he had a special bequest of the Judge's law books, and such divinity, history, and other books as the executrix should judge fittest for him.

He succeeded to the family estates at Poynton and Stockport on the death of his father, December 7, 1587, being then 24 years of age. In 1598 he was High Sheriff of Cheshire, and was knighted in Ireland the following year. He was three times married, his first wife being Joan, daughter of Sir Edward Fitton of Gawsworth, Knight, to whom he was married at Prestbury in 1574, then being eleven years of age; his second wife was Anne, daughter of William Davenport of Bramall, Esquire, to whom he was married at Prestbury October 16, 1581; his third wife was Susan, daughter of Sir William Booth of Dunham Massey, Knight. She survived her husband and married John Fitton of Chester, Esquire. She was buried at Wilmslow June 14, 1634, and entered in the Registers as "Ladie Susanna Warren of Pointon." By the two last wives Sir Edward Warren had a family of twenty-three children. There was a fine portrait of him formerly at Bramall, an engraving of which was made for the Rev. John Watson's "Memoirs of the Ancient Earls of Warren and Surrey."

- 10.—MARGARET THE DAUGHTER OF ROBERT TATTON
 OF WITHENSHAWE GENT WAS BURIED YE 10TH.

Margaret Tatton was the fifth child of Robert Tatton of Wythenshawe gent, and Ellen his wife, third daughter of John Warren of Poynton esquire. Margaret Tatton was baptised at Northenden Church, September 30, 1588, and died unmarried. At the time of her death, her grand father William Tatton was lord of Wythenshawe He was one of the six gentlemen ushers at the funeral of Henry, Earl of Derby, at Ormskirk in 1592. Amongst the Wythenshawe Charters is an indenture dated October 13, 44 Elizabeth (1602) and drawn up in consequence of the marriage of William Tatton his grandson and elder brother of Margaret above-named, in which William Tatton the elder settles on his grandson all his estates at Wythenshawe, Etcchells and Northenden, etc. It is somewhat remarkable, says Mr Earwaker, that in this deed there is no mention of Robert Tatton, the only son of William Tatton the elder, and father of William Tatton the younger.

William Tatton, who succeeded to the Wytuenshawe estates during the lifetime of his father, about 1616, did not enjoy his possessions long. He was unfortunately drowned in the river Mersey in January, 1616-17, in the thirty-second year of his age, as thus feelingly recorded in the Northenden Parish Registers :

Januarie 1616. Upon the vijth daye of this month did befall the most lamentable accident upon the Right Worshipfull William Tatton of Withenshawe Esquiere, who was drowned in the River of mercie, between the haven and the milne weare at Northenden, betwixt the hours of vij and viij a clocke at night, and his bodie was founde upon the xiiijth daye of the same month beneath the weare, about ij a clocke in the forenoone, and was buried upon the xvth daye of the same month about iij a clocke in the afternoon.

JULIE, 1610,

BAPTISED.

- 8.—RICHARD THE SONNE OF RICHARD BUCKLEY ESQUIER SONNE AND HEIRE OF SR RICHARD BUCKLEY OF BEWMARRES IN THE COUNTIE OF ANGLESEA KNIGHT WAS BAPTISED THE 8TH.

Richard Bulkeley, whose baptism is here given, was the eldest son of Richard Bulkeley and Katherine Needham his wife, and was grandson to Sir Richard Bulkeley, Kt., of Beaumaris and Cheadle. The second-named Richard Bulkeley died before his father, Sir Richard; and Mr Earwaker (East Cheshire i-177) thinks it probable that, after the death of the latter, the Bulkeley estates were divided, seeing that he had to provide for the offspring of two marriages. It is supposed that the Cheadle, Whatcroft, and other Cheshire properties remained with the heirs of Sir Richard by his first wife, the Beaumaris and Welsh estates being settled upon his heirs by his second marriage. In 1622 Katherine Bulkeley, widow of Richard Bulkeley, Esquire, and the mother of Richard whose baptism is given above, petitioned the Court of Wards and Liveries of the Prince of Wales, as Earl of Chester, and was allowed to retain the wardship and marriage of her son, who, being under age, had become a ward of the Earl. A commission was also issued to divide into three parts all the lands held by the late Richard Bulkeley. The Richard Bulkeley whose baptism is above recorded only lived to be about twenty-three years of age, dying at the Peele, an old moated house in Northen Etchells, September 26, 1633, and was buried at Cheadle the following day. He had married, about 1630, Dorothy, daughter of Sir Thomas Hoskins, of Oxsted, co. Surrey, by whom he had Humphrey Bulkeley, a posthumous son, born November 29, 1633, died February 17, 1636-7. There was also a daughter, ultimately his sole heiress, who married Sir Henry Ayloff, bart.

- 3.—WILLIAM THE SONNE OF WILLIAM DAVENPORT ESQUIER SONNE AND HEIRE APPARENT OF SIR WILLIAM DAVENPORT OF BROMHALL KNIGHT WAS BAPTIZED THE THIRD DAIE OF FEBRUARYE 1610.

William Davenport, whose baptism is here recorded, was the eldest son of William Davenport of Bramall, the baptism of whom on March 25, 1584, is the first to be entered in the Stockport Parish Registers. The mother of the first-named William Davenport was Frances, daughter of Thomas Wilbraham, of Woodhey, Esquire, but she died when he was about eleven years of of age. On September 26, 1627, when he was little more than seventeen years of age, a double wedding was celebrated at Stockport Parish Church, the contracting parties being William Davenport the father, now a widower, who married Margaret, daughter of Thomas Legh, of Adlington, Esquire, widow of Henry Arderne, of Harden, Esquire, and William Davenport, the son who married Frances, daughter of the late Henry Arderne and the above-named Margaret his wife; in other words, to quote the family pedigree, "the same day that her mother was married to her husband's father." William Davenport the younger died during the lifetime of his father and of his grandfather, being buried at Stockport January 8, 1641-2. He died without family, and was succeeded by his next younger brother, Peter Davenport, who married one of the Leghs of Adlington.

13.—JOHN THE SONNE OF GEORGE PARKER OF BRIDGE HALL GENT WAS BAPTISED THE 13TH.

Bridge Hall is in Cheadle parish, and at the end of the 15th and the beginning of the 16th century was owned by a family of the name of Bridge, from whom it derived its name. About 1540, William Bridge, of Bridge Hall, married Katherine, the eldest daughter of Richard Legh, of Baguley, near Northenden. In a list of Ch. hire gentry and freeholders in 1579, the name of "Robert Bridge, of Bridge, gent" occurs. He was the last of this family, and was buried at Cheadle, August 28, 1593. His daughter, Katherine, appears to have married George Parker, several of whose children were baptised at Stockport. She died in 1591, and was buried at Cheadle as "Katheryn Parker uxor George P."

thirty-six years, and served under the following rectors: Richard Gerard, M.A., Richard Kenyon, M.A., Edward Doughtie, M.A., Thomas Morton, D.D. (bishop of Chester), Sir Richard Murray, Bart., D.D., and Edmund Shallescrosse, M.A., the rector at this time being Richard Gerard, M.A. After the death of Rector Gerard in 1614, there was a rapid succession of rectors, each one of whom held other important livings. Richard Kenyon, M.A., was also vicar of Rochdale-Edward Doughtie, M.A., appointed in 1615, was dean of Hereford and chaplain to James I. Thomas Morton, D.D., appointed in 1616, was also bishop of Chester; whilst Sir Richard Murray, Bart., D.D., was dean of St. Buriens, in Cornwall, and warden of the Collegiate Church in Manchester. He died in 1637. In 1622 Normansell was appointed rural dean of Macclesfield, and as such his name is frequently to be met with in the Registers of various other churches in the deanery. Normansell died in 1643, his burial being entered in the Stockport Registers as having taken place March 15, 1642-3. (See East Cheshire, ii—402). The date of the marriage of Thomas Normansell with Anne Harford is written over an erasure.

 17.—RICHARD GERARD BACHELOR IN DIVINITIE AND PARSON OF THE PARISH CHURCHE OF STOCKPORT WAS BURIED THE 17TH.

Richard Gerard was the second son of William Gerard of Flambords, near Harrow-on-the-Hill, county Middlesex, Esquire, and his wife Dorothie daughter of Thomas Page, of Salisbury [? Sudbury] Court. These Gerardes were a branch of the family of the Gerardes of Ince, who descended from the Gerardes of Bryn, both in the county of Lancaster. Sir Gilbert Gerald Knt. Attorney-General to Queen Elizabeth and afterwards Master of the Rolls, who presented him to Stockport, was his uncle. He was collated prebendary of Southwell in 1580, and was also one of the chaplains to Queen Elizabeth. In 1585 he is named as one who had to supply money towards the furnishing of horsemen for the army in the Netherlands, and in 1597 he gave the sum of £30 on a writ of Privy Seal. He married at Stockport, January 19, 1584-5, Ursula, the youngest daughter of Ralph Arderne, of Harden Esquire, by his second wife Ellen, daughter of Sir Richard Bulkeley, of Beaumaris and Cheadle, Knt. By her he had a family of ten children, of whom there are numerous entries in these Registers. His youngest son Thomas Gerard, baptised at Stockport January 11, 1604-5, married there May 10, 1627, Beatrix, daughter of Robert Hyde, of Hyde and Norbury, Esquire, and was the founder of the line of the Gerardes, of Riddings Hall Timperley, in Bowdon parish, of whom there is a pedigree of five generations entered in the Cheshire Visitation of 1663-4. Elizabeth Gerard, one of Richard Gerard's daughters, baptised at Stockport, September 19, 1591, was married there February 13, 1616-17, to Oswald Mosley, of Garratt Hall, near Manchester, Esquire. Richard Gerard was in his sixty-first year at the time of his death, and an elaborate monument "painted upon cloth and set in a frame of wood" was placed to his memory in the chancel by his daughter, the above-named Elizabeth Mosley in 1628. It has long since disappeared, but is figured and described by Randle Holme in the Harleian MSS. (2151). Richard Gerard's wife survived him ten years, her burial taking place April 3, 1624.

- 27.—RICHARD KENNION PARSON OF STOCKPORT WAS BURIED AT THE CHURCH OF MANCHESTER THE 27TH.

Richard Kenyon was the son of Richard Kenyon of Manchester, and "cozen," probably nephew, of George Kenyon, of Kersal, near Manchester. He was elected fellow of the Collegiate Church, Manchester, in 1601-2, and was instituted to the Vicarage of Rochdale February 22, 1660-7. On his presentation to Stockport by Rev. John Langley he paid his composition for First Fruits to the Exchequer at London, on May 28, 1614, and he held this living, together with that of Rochdale, till his death in the following year. The Rev. John Langley, M.A., who presented him, was his friend and neighbour the rector of Prestwich. There can be no doubt there was something informal about his election, probably owing to the outlawry of John Warren, of Poynton, Esquire, the patron of Stockport, for there are still preserved at Chester, Letters Patent presenting to the rectory of Stockport, granted June 9, 1614, to Edward Doughtie on the death of Richard Gerard. Kenyon, however, died Rector of Stockport, as proved by the entry of his burial.

AUGUST, 1616.

IMP. THE STEEPLE OF THE CHURCHE OF STOCKPORT WAS BEGUN TO BE BUILDED ANNO DNI 1612 AND IT WAS FINISHED THE FIRST DAY OF THIS INSTANT AUGUST ANNO SUPRADICTO.

The tower of Stockport Parish Church, here recorded as having been completed, belonged, says Dr Heginbotham, to no particular period of architecture. Its summit was embattled and ornamented with eight small crenelated pinnacles, six of which now surmount the entrance to the burial ground in St. Mary's-gate. This was done when the church was rebuilt in 1810-13. There is a painting of the church as it then stood now in the possession of the Corporation, and painted by William Shuttleworth, a Stockport artist; an illustration of it may also be seen in Dr Heginbotham's history of the borough. As it then stood the church was of three periods; the chancel dating from c. 1290; the nave from 16th century; and the tower from 1616. The tower, prior to 1810, had a door at the bottom, giving admission to the ground-floor of the steeple, and through it to the north aisle. The next storey was the ringers' room, lighted on the west by a decorated window. Above this was the room containing the clock, furnished with a set of sweet chimes, whilst the uppermost storey was the belfry. The roof was covered with lead, and had upon it an elaborate vane, which, in 1810, was taken to Disley. About the commencement of the present century, a portion of the tower having given way, some rude buttresses were erected to support it, but in 1805, the bells having been rung for several days in succession, in celebration of Nelson's great victory at Trafalgar, the old tower was so shaken that it became dangerous. The bells were therefore seldom rung afterwards, and the last time they were pealed from that tower was on October 13th, 1809 at the jubilee of George III.

Edward Doughtie, M.A., S.T.P., dean of Hereford (1607-1616) according to the deed at Chester, dated June, 1614, was first presented to the living at Stockport by the King (James I.), but this did not lead to his institution. His second presentation by Thomas Edney, as well as by the King, dated August 1, 1615, was followed by his institution. He was one of the King's chaplains, which was probably the reason of his obtaining the living of Stockport, as the King still claimed the right of presentation on account of the out-lawry for simony of the patron, one of the Warrens of Poynton. The rector only held the living until the following year, when he died and was buried as stated above.

The history of the world is a vast and complex subject, encompassing the lives and actions of countless individuals and the evolution of societies over time. It is a story of triumph and adversity, of discovery and exploration, of war and peace. The ancient world, with its empires and civilizations, laid the foundations for the modern world. The Middle Ages, with its religious fervor and chivalry, shaped the cultural and political landscape. The Renaissance brought a new spirit of inquiry and learning, leading to the scientific revolution and the Enlightenment. The modern world, with its technological advances and global interconnectedness, has brought both unprecedented progress and new challenges. The history of the world is a testament to the resilience and ingenuity of the human spirit.

Mile End Hall was about this time leased from John Warren of Poynton by Sir William Davenport of Bramall, as the "dower house" of that family, where the heir to the Bramall estates was to reside during the lifetime of his father. This is the first mention made of Mile End in the Registers, and the William Davenport here referred to as residing at Mile End was the eldest son of Sir William Davenport, Kt., and Dorothy (Warren) his wife. It is this same William Davenport, of Mile End, who figured so prominently in the Civil War, and who has left such an interesting account of his troubles during that eventful period. The present house at Mile End is a comparatively modern building, believed to occupy the site of the older one

This is the earliest record of any minister serving at Norbury. The first reference to the chapel at Norbury is in 1673, when it acquired some notoriety owing to an action brought against the Rev John Jolly, a Nonconformist minister, for preaching there. This chapel in 1673 was a plain brick building, which had probably taken the place of an earlier chapel of timber and plaster, and stood nearly opposite Norbury Hall, now a farmhouse, "on the demesne lands of Mr Hyde an infant."

- 21.—Henrie Bridge of Bridge Hall was buried the 21st.

Comparing this entry with the particulars to be found in Earwaker's East Cheshire (i-185) relating to the family of Bridge, of Bridge Hall, Edgeley, it would appear as if he had overlooked it. In a list of freeholders living in the Macclesfield Hundred in 1579, occurs the name of "Robert Bridge, of Bridge, gent." Mr Earwaker says he was the last of this family, the estate passing to George Parker, who married his daughter. In the above entry of the burial of Henry Bridge, of Bridge Hall, is evidence of a later member of the family than the one referred to by Mr Earwaker. Bridge Hall, now a modernised farmhouse, was owned, as early as the 15th century, by a family named Bridge, from whom it derived its name. In 1504, when Sir John Percival founded and endowed the Macclesfield

Grammar School, one of the trustees that he appointed was "John Bridges, of Edgeley," and he also desired that his "Kynnesman Maister William Bridges," might be elected the first master of the school, which was accordingly done.

Dr Ormerod thinks the family took their name from the Bridge over the Mersey at Stockport, of which they had the wardship in the fourteenth century. The family remained here many generations as freeholders, subsequently being found as proprietors of Bridge Hall, Cheadle.

Alexander Newton was the firstborn son of George Newton, of Newton-in-Longdendale, and Dorothy (Brashawe) his wife, whose marriage is recorded in these Registers August 20, 1618. This child did not live long, however, his burial taking place at Mottram August 7, 1619. The next son, baptised at Ashton-under-Lyne December 7, 1623, was also named Alexander, and through him the family name continued. He became a lieutenant-colonel in the Parliament Army during the Civil War, and sat with his kinsman Colonel Henry Bradshawe and Colonel Dukinfield at the Court Martial of James, seventh Earl of Derby, executed at Bolton.

Mary Arderne, "widowe late wife of John Arderne late of Hawarden," was the daughter of Edward Holland of Denton, and in commemoration of her marriage with John Arderne circa 1598 there was executed and placed in St. Peter's Chapel of Stockport Parish Church a piece of blazonry that has puzzled not a few. In 1662 Randle Holme, the Cheshire antiquary, visited Stockport Parish Church for the purpose of noting the monuments, coats of arms, etc., in the church for his book the Academy of Armory, printed at Chester in 1688. He tells us that at that time on "a pillar in Mr Arderne's seat," painted on wood, were three shields of arms. These shields are still in existence, and are now (1888) fixed to three sides of the most easterly pillar in the south aisle, and in what was then known as St. Peter's Chapel. The central shield, with the date 1598, is the Arderne shield, with five quarterings impaling Holland of Denton, and commemorating the marriage of John and Mary Arderne. The other two shields are: The one on the right Arderne impaling Legh of Adlington and the one on the left Marbury, of five quarterings, impaling Arderne. These have reference to the marriage of a son and daughter of John Arderne's with members of the families of Legh of Adlington and Marbury of Marbury respectively.

- 18.—FRANCIS THE DAUGHTER OF HENRIE ARDERN OF HAWARDEN ESQUIER WAS BAPTISED THE 18TH.

Frances Arderne baptised this day was the youngest daughter of Henry Arderne of Harden Hall, and Margaret, his wife, (the daughter of Thomas Legh, of Adlington), and grand-daughter to Mary Arderne whose burial is given under May 10 this year (which see). Henry Arderne, the father, died November 2, 1623, and was buried at Stockport on November 4. On September 26, 1627, his widow Margaret married at Stockport William Davenport, of Bramall, and on the same day her daughter Frances, whose baptism is recorded above, and being a little over eight years old, was also married at Stockport to William Davenport of Bramall (baptised at Stockport February 3, 1610-11), son and heir to the last named William Davenport. The entries at the time of the marriages are as follow:—

September, 1627.

William Dauenport, Esquier and Margaret Arderne were married the 26th.

William Dauenport gent sonne and heire apparent to the before-named William Dauenport Esquier and ffranceis Arderne daughter of the before-named Margaret Arderne were married also the 26th.

Thus we have another instance of a custom prevailing in those days of child marriages.

28.—ROBERT THE SONNE OF ROBERT DOKENFEILD GENTLEMAN SONNE AND HEIRE APPARENT OF ROBERT DOKENFEILD OF DOKENFEILD ESQUIER WAS BAPTISED THE 23TH.

This entry in the Stockport Parish Registers undoubtedly ranks next in interest with that recording the baptism of President Bradshaw, with whom Dukinfield lived contemporary, and like wise a staunch adherent to the cause of the Parliament during the Civil War. His father Robert Dukinfield, of Dukinfield, was baptised at Ashton-under-Lyne, August 14, 1597, and was buried at Stockport, August 30, 1630, having married Frances, daughter of George Preston, of Holker, co. Lanc., Esquire, at Cartmel Church, August 23, 1618. At the time of his father's death in 1630, Robert Dukinfield was eleven years old, and at the outbreak of the Civil War in 1642, he was but little more than a youth. Nevertheless, he was, says Mr Earwaker (East Cheshire ii-13) appointed one of the Commissioners for Cheshire for sequestering the estates of the delinquents, and for raising money for the Parliament. In February, 1643 he attacked and took Wythenshawe Hall, and on May 25, 1644, he, together with Colonel Henry Mainwaring, commanded the forces sent to guard Stockport, and prevent Prince Rupert's march into Lancashire. From a letter preserved in the Egerton MSS. in the British Museum, and written by him from Dukinfield, April 5, 1645, it appears that in the previous winter he and his troops had served at the siege of Beeston Castle and in Wirral, and that he was much pressed for money to pay his men. In the proceedings of the House of Commons, May 24, 1648, it is mentioned that he had held a meeting with the gentlemen of Cheshire, and had promised to raise three regiments of foot and one of horse.

In 1649 he was High Sheriff of Cheshire, and in the following year was appointed Governor of Chester, and in that capacity was directed by Parliament to summon the Court Martial for the trial of the Earl of Derby, Sir Timothy Fetherstonhaugh and Captain John Benbow, at Chester in September, 1651. The Court Martial was held September 29, 1651, and with Colonel Dukinfield sat Colonel Henry Bradshaw and Lieutenant-colonel Newton, of Newton-in-Loxley, Leicestershire. It is said that a pardon was granted to the Earl of Derby, and entrusted to Colonel Dukinfield, who so arranged that it should reach Bolton too late, but there is little or no reason for believing this story. In the spring of 1652, Colonel Dukinfield proceeded to the Isle of Mann, and by the aid of treachery succeeded in reducing the island and taking the Countess of Derby and her children prisoners, for which he and Colonel Birch received the thanks of Parliament. In a very interesting letter, written by the Earl of Derby, from Chester, shortly before his death, and addressed to his wife, then at the Isle of Mann, he advises her to make the best conditions she can "with Colonel Dukinfield, who, being so much a gentleman born, will doubtless for his own honour deal fairly with you."

In 1653, Colonel Dukinfield was returned as one of the members of Parliament for Cheshire, and was placed on Cromwell's council in July that year. Some years later, in 1659, he was associated with General Lambert in suppressing Sir George Booth's famous "Cheshire Rising" in favour of the exiled princes. After the restoration of Charles II., he was tried as one of the court martial of the Earl of Derby, and it is stated that he was imprisoned in the country on some charge of being concerned with others in a plot to seize the King and restore the Parliament.

Colonel Dukinfield appears to have resided at Dukinfield Hall, Dukinfield, and as a staunch Puritan was one of the leaders of Nonconformity in the North of England. He died September 18, 1689, aged 70 years, and was buried at Denton. A tombstone bearing the following inscription is now placed on the south side of Dukinfield Chapel:—

Colonel Robert Dukinfield, of Dukinfield, Esquire, who died September 18th, 1689, aged about 80 years and was buried at Denton Chapel. And here lye the remains of Judith, his Relict, who died Februar 23rd, 1738-9, aged 86 years. And also the remains of John Dukinfield, their son, who died October 25th, 1782, aged 76 years.

The most prominent historians of our county have dropped into error with respect to the birth or baptism and death of Colonel Dukinfield. The Rev. John Watson, M.A., F.S.A., rector of Stockport (1769-1783), in the MSS. known by his name, says the Colonel Dukinfield was born August 28, 1619. Helsing's edition of Ormerod corrects this, and says that baptised is meant, Mr Earwaker also records his baptisms as August 28, instead of September 28, 1619. In the first edition of Ormerod it is stated that Colonel Dukinfield's death occurred before 1665, when his son was knighted by Charles II. That Sir Robert Dukinfield was knighted during the lifetime of his father there is conclusive proof, the two here given being extracted from the Nonconformist Register kept by the Rev. Oliver Heywood, of Coley, Yorkshire, and son-in-law of Rev. Samuel Angier, of Denton.

1678. Colonel Duckinfield, of Duckinfield, and Judith, Nathl. Bottomleys daughter, near Peniston, married August 20. Sir Robert Dukinfields lady dying of childbed the same week.

1689. Old Colonel Dukinfield (Sir Robert ffather) died Sep., aged 74. A useful man,

When Colonel Dukinfield died in 1689 he was just completing the allotted span of human life—threescore years and ten, and not eighty years as recorded on the tablet at Dukinfield Chapel.

Colonel Dukinfield was twice married. His first wife was Martha, daughter of Sir Miles Fleetwood, of Hesketh co., Lanc., Knt.; married c 1640, and by whom he had four sons and four daughters. She died October 2, 1669, and on August 20, 1678, he married for his second wife Judith, daughter of Nathaniel Bottomley, of Cawthorne, near Barnsley, co. York, by whom he had four sons and two daughters. She died February 23, 1738-9, and was buried at Dukinfield.
